47 Brilliant Hygiene Products On Amazon That Have Tons Of Glowing Reviews

By Maria Cassano

Thanks to a general sense of anonymity, people on the internet typically don't bother censoring their opinions. For better or for worse, most tell it like it is. That said, when it comes to brilliant products on Amazon with tons of glowing reviews, a group of vocal commenters is often a good thing — especially if you're a customer, and especially when you're dealing with random hygiene products that you haven't tried personally.

Unlike most other categories, hygiene and beauty products are extremely subjective. A body scrub or a nail-strengthening cream may work for you, or it may not — and then there's an entire spectrum of effectiveness in between. (This is completely different from, say, buying a lamp, which merely has to turn on and look attractive for you to deem that purchase a success.)

For that reason, the more buyer feedback a hygiene product has, the better. When an item has thousands of rave reviews — and people with all different lifestyles, skin types, and expectations are saying "this works" — you know you've found a winner. That way, you can make an informed decision about your next deodorant, facial cleanser, or exfoliating brush, all thanks to some particularly vocal strangers on the internet.

A Spray That Sanitizes Using The Antibacterial Power Of Thyme

According to scientific studies, Triclosan (the main ingredient in traditional hand sanitizers) has been shown to compromise the microbiome and present various health risks to humans. Instead, CleanWell sanitizing spray uses all-botanical ingredients — specifically thyme, which leaves skin soft and germ-free without the toxicity. It's also biodegradable, compact for easy travel, and "doesn't dry out [your] hands," according to reviewers.
